

CUSTOMER RELATIONSHIP SUMMARY

SOUTH TEXAS SECURITIES CO.

Item 1: South Texas Securities Co. LP, doing business as Icon Capital Group (“Icon”) is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”) and the Security Investors Protection Corporation (“SIPC”). This document is dated August 23, 2022.

Is a brokerage account right for you? There are different ways you can get help with your investments. You should carefully consider which types of accounts and services are right for you. We are a broker-dealer and provide brokerage accounts and services rather than advisory accounts and services. This document gives you a summary of the types of services we provide and how you pay. Please ask us for more information. There are some suggested questions below. Conversation Starter Questions: Given my financial situation, why should I choose an advisory account? Why should I choose a brokerage account?

Item 2: Relationships and Services - If you open a brokerage account, you will pay us a transaction-based fee, generally referred to as a commission, every time you buy or sell an investment. We offer recommendations to retail investors. Retail investors may select investments or we may recommend investments for the retail investor’s account, but the retail investor will make the ultimate investment decision regarding the investment strategy and the purchase or sale of investments. We offer retail investors additional services, including: assistance with developing or executing the retail investor’s investment strategy (e.g., we help retail investors with fulfilling their investment goals and can help design a strategy to achieve the retail investor’s investment goals). We do not monitor the performance of the retail investor’s account. These services can be offered as additional services or are part of the standard brokerage account services, and the retail investor will pay more for these services in certain cases. We offer a limited selection of investments. Other firms could offer a wider range of choices, some of which might have lower costs.

Item 3: Standard of Conduct - Our Obligations to You - We must abide by certain laws and regulations in our interactions with you. We must act in your best interest and not place our interests ahead of yours when we recommend an investment or an investment strategy involving securities. When we provide any service to you, we must treat you fairly and comply with a number of specific obligations. Unless we agree otherwise, we are not required to monitor your portfolio or investments on an ongoing basis. Our interests can conflict with your interests. When we provide recommendations, we must eliminate these conflicts or tell you about them and in some cases reduce them. Conversation Starter Questions: How will you choose investments to recommend for my account? How often will you monitor my account’s performance and offer investment advice?

Item 4: Summary of Fees and Costs - Transaction-based fees. You will pay us a fee every time you buy or sell an investment. This fee, commonly referred to as a commission, is based on the specific transaction and not the value of your account. With stocks or exchange-traded funds, this fee is usually a separate commission. With other investments, such as bonds, this fee might be part of the price you pay for the investment (called a “mark-up” or “mark down”). With mutual funds, this fee (typically called a “load”) reduces the value of your investment. Some investments impose additional fees that will reduce the value of your investments over time (e.g., mutual funds and variable annuities). You could be required to pay fees when certain investments are sold (e.g., redemption fees for certain mutual funds). Fees vary. Fees are generally not negotiable. You will generally not pay other fees in addition to the firm’s principal fees (e.g., we do not charge account maintenance or inactivity fees). The more transactions in your account, the more fees we charge you. We therefore have an incentive to encourage you to engage in transactions. Conversation Starter Questions: Do the math for me. How much would I pay per year for an advisory account? How much for a typical brokerage account? What would make those fees more or less? What services will I receive for those fees? What additional costs should I expect in connection with my account? Tell me how you and your firm make money in connection with my account. Do you or your firm receive any payments from anyone besides me in connection with my investments?

Item 5: Comparisons to be provided by standalone investment advisers and standalone broker-dealers

Our Services Compared Compare with Typical Advisory Account

You could also open an advisory account with an investment adviser, where you will pay an ongoing asset-based fee that is based on the value of the cash and investments in your advisory account. Features of a typical advisory account include ongoing oversight and management of the account, fees based on the value of the account, and regular account reviews. Advisers provide advice on a regular basis. They discuss your investment goals, design with you a strategy to achieve your investment goals, and regularly monitor your account. You can choose an account that allows the adviser to buy and sell investments in your account without asking you in advance (a “discretionary account”) or the adviser may give you advice and you decide what investments to buy and sell (a “non-discretionary account”). Advisers are held to a fiduciary standard that covers the entire investment advisory relationship. For example, advisers are required to monitor your portfolio, investment strategy and investments on an ongoing basis. If you were to pay an asset-based fee in an advisory account, you would pay the fee periodically, even if you do not buy or sell. You may also choose to work with an investment adviser who provides investment advice for an hourly fee, or provides a financial plan for a one-time fee. For an adviser that charges an asset-based fee, the more assets you have in an advisory account, including cash, the more you will pay the adviser. So the adviser has an incentive to increase the assets in your account in order to increase its fees.

Item 6. - Conflicts of Interest

We benefit from our recommendations to you. We have a financial incentive to offer or recommend to you to invest in certain investments because they are issued, sponsored or managed by us. Third parties may compensate us because we recommend or sell their investments. For example, we may share commissions regarding transactions effected in your account with other broker-dealers. Our financial professionals may receive additional compensation if you buy these investments. We have an incentive to offer or recommend that you invest in certain investments because the manager or sponsor of those investments or another third party (such as an intermediary) shares with us revenue it earns on those investments. For example, we may recommend a mutual fund to you that will pay us an ongoing commission if you invest in that mutual fund (called a 12b-1 fee). We can buy investments from you, and sell investments to you from our own accounts (this is called “acting as principal”). We can earn a profit on these trades, and we have an incentive to encourage you to trade with us. Conversation Starter Questions: What are the most common conflicts of interest in my brokerage accounts? Explain how you will address those conflicts when providing services to my account.

Item 7. - Additional Information. We encourage you to seek out additional information. We have no legal and disciplinary events. If we or one of our financial professionals does have a legal or disciplinary event, we are required to disclose it. What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? Please explain what the abbreviations in your licenses are and what they mean. Who is the primary contact person for my account, and is he or she a representative of an investment adviser or a broker-dealer? What can you tell me about his or her legal obligations to me? If I have concerns about how this person is treating me, who can I talk to?
